Public Health Internship: Long Term
Six Months Starting October 2010 or Flexible

Organization:
The Alliance for the Prudent Use of Antibiotics (APUA) is a global public health organization dedicated to improving antimicrobial access and use and controlling antimicrobial resistance. Founded in 1981 and located on the Tufts Medical School Campus in Boston, APUA conducts its public health research and education programs in conjunction with affiliated chapters in over 60 countries and leading national and international health organizations.

The APUA internship program is intended to offer students enjoyable and unique learning experiences while providing extended resources to support administration’s fruition of programs.

Internship Responsibilities/Duties:
General project administration and support; assistance with technical reports and policy briefs; online research, literature reviews, and data compilation; maintenance of records and files; database maintenance; other administrative duties as assigned.

This internship will support the following projects in priority order:
1. Support of Executive Director in corporate development; grant writing; meeting coordination; Leadership Award, and other administrative projects.
2. Support scientific network meeting on antibiotic resistance in commensal organisms; and develop future research agenda.
3. Assist with literature reviews; data compilation and preparation of articles on scientific and public health topics.
4. Support of International Chapter Director, including grant research and development.
5. Research and support development of articles and coordinate production of APUA scientific newsletter.
6. Support of various APUA staff in finalizing reports and grant proposals.

Minimum Requirement:
Students enrolled or applying to business, public policy or public health masters programs are given preference. 35 hours per week for this 5-6-month internship program

Salary:
Stipend: APUA offers interns a stipend of $1,200/month. Other benefits such as health insurance or vacation time are not provided with the internship.

How to Apply:
Please forward cover letter and resume/CV c/o Human Resources by email to: apua@tufts.edu. No phone calls please.